

Ecclesiastical has been insuring heritage buildings since 1887. Over that time, we have become the recognized experts at appraising, underwriting, restoring and rebuilding these storied structures.

Our Arts, Culture & Heritage product is designed to protect historic structures that do not align with our key target segments.

PROPERTY

Broad Form coverage is provided for losses caused by direct physical loss or direct physical damage unless otherwise excluded. The base wording includes replacement cost, by-laws and debris removal falling within the overall property coverage limit on the policy. With the unique construction features of a heritage building Ecclesiastical can assist in providing a valuation of the building. Coverage is also provided for newly acquired buildings and contents at newly acquired locations ( $ 1,000,000 combined limit per term ).

The following extensions, which are in addition to the overall property coverage limit, are included as part of our base Arts, Culture & Heritage Protect product offering:

Replacement Cost For Heritage Buildings Demystified

Restoring or repairing a heritage property comes with a host of paradoxes ; how do you recreate a structure where its very age helps define it? We take the approach that unique buildings or those with heritage designations are restored as sympathetically as possible to look like the original, with the same quality of finishes and details. Although traditional building materials like stone, lead, and oak will be used to replace what existed before, we recognize that these will not necessarily be faithful replicas of the materials they'll replace.

For example, in the case of stone, it is likely to be freshly quarried, and in the case of timber, it won't be from the same historical period. For small repairs, second-hand or reclaimed materials in sufficient quantities might be available and would be used to successfully blend-in with the remaining structure.

We also anticipate that allied to traditional craft skills, modern construction methods will be used in the repairs and may be required to comply with building by-laws and regulations. The use of modern construction methods and the philosophy behind them are fully understood and accepted by the various heritage bodies in Canada.
